Subject: Supplemental Reporting Requirements for Nonprofit Hospitals

Thank you and your staff for working with my office over the last several months to develop the Supplemental Reporting Form – Organizational Clearance Certificate Holders – Nonprofit Hospital Organizations and the list of hospital organizational clearance certificate (OCC) holders that I propose be examined in 2009 using the Supplemental Reporting Form.

In preparation for placing this matter on the Board's agenda for its January 21-22, 2009 meeting, I am submitting this memorandum to you for inclusion in the Board meeting materials that discusses the background for this matter; prior examinations of nonprofit OCC holders and the need for the supplemental reporting requirements; and my request of you and your staff to assist in the development of the aforementioned documents to be used in 2009 for reporting by selected hospital OCC holders.

Background

Article XIII, Section 4(b) of the California Constitution, as amended on November 7, 1944, authorizes the Legislature to exempt from taxation, property: (1) used exclusively for religious, hospital, or charitable purposes; and (2) owned or held in trust by nonprofit organizations operating for those purposes. A fourth purpose, scientific, was added when the Legislature enacted Revenue and Taxation Code 214 in 1945, which contains the statutory provisions to implement the constitutional provisions. This exemption is also known as the welfare exemption.

To be eligible for the welfare exemption, an organization must meet the following organizational requirements:

• It must be organized and operated for exempt purposes (religious, hospital, scientific, charitable) in accordance with section 214(a).

- It must not be organized or operated for profit in accordance with section 214(a)(1).
- It must have tax exemption status with the Internal Revenue Service under 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, or the Franchise Tax Board under 23701(d) of the Revenue and Taxation Code (section 214.8).
- The organization's earnings must not benefit any private shareholder or individual (section 214(a)(2)).
- The organization's formative documents, i.e. Articles of Incorporation, must contain acceptable irrevocable dedication and dissolution clauses as provided by sections 214(a)(6) and 214.01.

Additionally, in order to be eligible for the welfare exemption, the property must be used exclusively for religious, hospital, scientific, or charitable purposes. A qualifying organization's property may be exempted fully or partially depending on how much the property is used for qualifying purposes or activities.

Both the State Board of equalization (BOE) and county assessors are responsible for administering the welfare exemption: the BOE determines whether the organization itself is eligible for the exemption; and the county assessor determines whether the property of a qualifying organization qualifies for exemption based on the property's use. Upon the BOE's determination that an organization qualifies for the welfare exemption, is issues an Organizational Clearance Certificate for Welfare or Veterans' Organization Exemption (OCC). The OCC remains valid until the BOE determines no longer meets the requirements for exemption and the OCC is revoked.

To verify that an organization meets and continues to meet the requirements of Revenue and Taxation Code Section 214, the BOE requires organizations holding an OCC to file a periodic claim form every three years. In its review, the BOE examines an organization's formative documents to ensure acceptable irrevocable dedication and dissolution language, verifies current tax exemption status with the Internal Revenue Service or Franchise Tax Board, reviews California Secretary of State information for current status and recent amendments to articles of incorporation, and reviews activity information to ensure that activities are consistent with the purpose of the organization.

Prior Examinations of Nonprofit Hospitals

2005 Periodic Claim Review: In response to increased public inquiries and media coverage in 2004 about nonprofit hospitals and issues relating to these hospitals such as compensation levels for their chief executive officers, the BOE initiated a review of all hospital organizations as part of its 2005 periodic claim review. This review culminated in a report released in May 2006 and determined that all hospital organizations holding OCCs continued to meet the requirements for exemption. Specific findings contained in the report include:

• Organizations are organized and operated for hospital purposes in compliance with Revenue and Taxation Code Sections 214(a) and 214(a)(1). These organizations also have current tax exemption status with the Internal Revenue Service or Franchise Tax Board under IRC 501(c)(3) or 23701(d), respectively, as required by Revenue and Taxation Code Section 214.8.

- Organizations' earnings do not benefit any private shareholder or individual, in compliance with Section 214(a)(2).
- Organizations' formative documents, i.e., Articles of Incorporation, contain acceptable irrevocable dedication and dissolution clauses, as provided by Revenue and Taxation Code Sections 214(a)(6) and 214.01.

Of the 200 hospital organizations examined, BOE staff found 15 had operating revenues that exceeded operating expenses by ten percent or more of those expenses (surplus revenues). To ensure compliance with Revenue and Taxation Code Section 214(a)(1), further analysis was conducted relating to the use of surplus revenues, whereby BOE staff requested information as to each organization's use of surplus revenues, a further description of certain items identified as deductions from revenues, and the submission of financial statements for additional years to allow BOE staff to analyze surplus revenues over a four-year period. Section 214(a)(1) provides that hospitals are deemed not to be organized or operated for profit, if during the immediately preceding fiscal year, operating revenues, exclusive of gifts, endowments and grants-in-aid, do not exceed operating expenses by the amount equivalent to ten percent of those operating expenses.

This statutory provision was interpreted by an appellate court decision to mean that a nonprofit hospital with net operating revenues in excess of ten percent of its operating expenses can still quality for the welfare exemption [Rideout Hospital Foundation, Inc. v. Yuba County (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th214]. The Court of Appeal stated that the legislative intent of section 214(a)(1) was not to deny the exemption to a nonprofit hospital using such excess revenue for debt retirement, plant and facility expansion, or operating cost contingencies.

BOE staff's analysis of the organizations' use of surplus revenues disclosed that surplus revenues were or are being used for one or more purposes specified by the Court of Appeal, including debt retirement, plant and facility expansion, and operating cost contingencies. Overall, the 15 organizations had significant construction projects of new hospitals (inpatient and outpatient facilities), office buildings, and other related facilities; expenditures; which well exceed surplus revenues. Over half the organizations expending funds for plant expansion indicated some construction costs on existing facilities resulting from compliance with seismic retrofitting requirements.

December 2007 Bureau of State Audits Report: In December 2007, the Bureau of State Audits released Report 2007-107, "Nonprofit Hospitals: Inconsistent Data Obscure the Economic Value of Their Benefit to Communities, and the Franchise Tax Board Could More Closely Monitor Their Tax-Exempt Status." This audit report was requested by the Joint Legislative Audit Committee in response to several concerns: that the types of activities conducted by nonprofit hospitals qualify as charitable activities and constitute a broad public benefit; that the current treatment by nonprofit hospitals of revenues in excess of the established statutory threshold (see discussion above) is consistent with the exempt purposes of these organizations; whether the tax exemptions for nonprofit hospitals are still relevant today in light of dramatic changes to the health care industry and the increasing focus on universal health care access --- which have been highlighted by media coverage relating to compensation levels for nonprofit hospital CEOs, the level of charity care provided by nonprofit hospitals, and the growing uninsured population in California; and that the value of the tax benefits received by nonprofit hospitals is reasonably related to the quality and quantity of the public benefits and charity care they provide.

This report concluded that when taken as a percentage of net patient revenues --- the actual amounts a hospital receives from patients and third-party payers, such as health coverage programs --- the uncompensated care costs provided by nonprofit and for-profit hospitals were not significantly different, both including and excluding Medi-Cal costs. Although benefits provided to the community differentiate nonprofit hospitals from for-profit hospitals, only nonprofit hospitals must report about such benefits, and the categories of services and the associated economic value are not consistently reported among nonprofit hospitals.

Additionally, the report notes that although State law requires that tax-exempt hospitals submit a community benefit plan that contains the activities undertaken to address community needs and assign and report economic values to those benefits, it does not mandate a uniform reporting standard. Significant errors also exist in the property values for tax-exempt hospitals reported by county assessors, and the Franchise Tax Board does not adequately monitor the continuing eligibility of California's income tax-exempt nonprofit hospitals.

In response to these findings: the BOE's County-Assessed Properties Division will incorporate steps in its survey review of county assessment practices to verify proper classification of exempted property based on the type of organization within the welfare exemption; and the Franchise Tax Board (FTB), as resources are available, will focus on increased compliance audits of tax-exempt entities, begin to develop an audit program to review the Form 199 for hospitals, and begin to update the codes to separately identify tax-exempt hospitals from other types of charitable organizations. The FTB has already implemented a procedure to log complaints into a computer database so it may track and identify trends relating to noncompliance with the law.

Internal Revenue Service Oversight of Nonprofit Hospitals: At the federal level, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has increased its oversight of the financial practices of the nonprofit community. In December 2007, the IRS released the new version of its Form 990, the annual tax return filed by nonprofit entities. The new version of the Form 990 requires additional details on the finances of nonprofit entities and certification by each entity's board of directors about its monitoring of the organization's finances.

Nonprofit hospitals, which comprise about 40 percent of spending within the nonprofit community, will be required to complete a new Schedule H to the Form 990, specifying the community benefits they provide, including information about their charity care policies, and details about for-profit joint ventures involving their executives and physicians. Nonprofit hospitals must complete Schedule H beginning in 2009 for the 2008 tax year.

Additionally, the IRS began a national survey of the executive pay and charity care provided by nonprofit hospitals pursuant to testimony before Congress about allegedly inappropriate compensation structures, business ventures, and perks such as gifts and trips on the books of nonprofit hospitals. The IRS survey has not been completed to date.

December 2008 Bureau of State Audits Recommendations for Legislative Consideration: Last week, the Bureau of State Audits issued its "Recommendations for Legislative Consideration from Audits Issued During 2007 and 2008." This report included the following recommendation related to its Report 2007-107 issued in December 2007 (see discussion above):

"If the Legislature expects community benefit plans (plans) to contain comparable and consistent data, it should consider enacting statutory requirements that prescribe a mandatory format and methodology for tax-exempt nonprofit hospitals to follow when presenting community benefits in their plans. Additionally, if the Legislature intends that exemptions from income and property taxes granted to nonprofit hospitals should be based on hospitals providing a certain level of community benefits, it should consider amending state law to include such requirements."

Assembly Bill 2942 of the 2007-08 Regular Session, which was held in the Senate, would have required a standardized format and methodology for hospitals to present community benefit information.

2009 Reporting by Selected Hospital OCC Holders

As you know, I propose the examination of approximately one-third of the hospital OCC holders during the 2009 periodic claim review process that includes supplemental reporting from these entities on the proposed Supplemental Reporting Form – Organizational Clearance Certificate Holders – Nonprofit Hospital Organizations; a copy of the proposed form is attached. This form is intended to mirror the information requested by the IRS in its Schedule H to the Form 990. The list of hospital organizational clearance certificate (OCC) holders that I propose be examined in 2009 using the Supplemental Reporting Form also is attached and was prepared at my request in consideration of BOE workload priorities and staff resource constraints. This list of hospital OCC holders is intended to be geographically representative of California.

I believe the data your staff will be compiling from the Supplemental Reporting Forms submitted will provide more comparable, consistent, and accurate information to guide the California State Legislature, this Board, the Franchise Tax Board, and other interests as they consider policy changes to better ensure nonprofit hospitals are providing an appropriate level of community benefits as the basis for the value of the hospitals' exemptions from income and property taxes.

Again, thank you and your staff for the assistance you have provided me and my office relating to this proposal for the 2009 reporting by selected hospital OCC holders. I look forward to the discussion of this matter at the January 2009 Board meeting.
